

Politicians and Policing Brutality

From my perspective, politics is filled with false promises...weak lies...and cheap ties/
Deception attached to a bunch of crooked necks that they try to disguise/
It's no surprise...that they appeal to our communities, that's how they pull us in/
Then they take a whole different approach after we vote for them/
It's like they sell us dreams in exchange for support from communities they never walked through/
Let's be honest...how they going to try to represent people they'll never talk to?/
That's why when it come to voting...when it come to voting, people gonna be reluctant/
Because while they fighting to survive police brutality...them politicians fighting over budgets/
Budgets that strip away finances from educational programs that sprout our youth like flowers/
Instead they are given more free time to become products of an environment that was created through systematic racism where innocence is devoured/
Who's the real cowards? If republicans, greens, independents, and democrats really cared about humanity their relationships would never sour/
If it wasn't about the dollar, they would come to our communities where black and brown lives are blown away like specs of powder/
They say we free...free, I'm sure we all disagree to a degree/
With the definition of being free...like if we say the wrong thing we ain't going have to pay a fee/
They say our conduct is disorderly...they favorite line is stop resisting/
If they paid attention they'd see we not resisting, we just tired of police brutality so we tensing/
Your honor, just because they rock them badges don't mean they walk with honor/
If you was my neighbor you would see that war was waged against us like Osama/
They patrol our communities with aggression, disrespect us and arrest us/
Kill our offspring but leave it up to them they trying to protect us/
If that's protection our communities don't need it, they can keep it/
And if the murders of George Floyd and others weren't broadcast they would've ended up a bunch of secrets.
